

Putting Racism on the Table

Copyright & Usage Information

Putting Racism on the Table™ videos may be distributed and viewed without prior permission from Washington Regional Association of Grantmakers (WRAG) so long as: 1) the videos are not edited or otherwise altered; and 2) there is no monetary charge or other direct monetary gain associated with the use of the videos. WRAG expressly prohibits copying, reproducing, distributing, transmitting, publishing, displaying, performing, modifying, creating derivative works from, and otherwise using the videos or any parts thereof, for direct monetary gain (except upon obtaining express, prior permission and terms from WRAG).

The Bottom Line: WRAG welcomes and encourages you to show these videos to educate your community about racism and racial equity. If you will not be charging a fee to participants, you do not need to request permission from WRAG (although we would still like to hear from you to help us track the impact of the videos!). If you will charge a fee, you must complete this form and submit it to WRAG to secure permission to show the videos. If permission is granted, after your event or program involving the video(s), WRAG will collect a percentage of the fees you collected. The rate owed to WRAG depends on the requesting institution's status as a member of the United Philanthropy Forum:

United Philanthropy Forum Members: 3% of fees collected

Non-Members: 5% of fees collected

For instance, if you will charge $100 per individual participant in an event where you will be showing a Putting Racism on the Table™ video(s), you must pay WRAG $5 per individual registrant if you are not a member of the Forum and $3 if you are a member of the Forum.
